The Renal Physicians Association Recognizes Boise Kidney and Hypertension Institute as the 2010 Exemplary Practice at its 2010 Annual Meeting

Rockville, MD—April 1, 2010—The Renal Physicians Association (RPA) acknowledged the expertise and contributions of Boise Kidney and Hypertension Institute as the 2010 Exemplary Practice during their annual meeting, March 12-15, 2010, in Baltimore, Maryland.

The RPA recognition awards were established to formally recognize and thank members and friends of the Association for their contributions to nephrology practice. The Exemplary Practice Award recognizes a particular nephrology practice that is uniquely incorporating and supporting suggested practices and strategic efforts of the RPA while meeting the needs of its community.

Dr. Edward Jones, President of the RPA, presented the 2010 Exemplary Practice to Boise Kidney and Hypertension Institute of Meridian, ID. Dr. Jones highlighted Boise's dynamic Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) awareness, education and treatment program. Dr. Jones also pointed out this exemplary practice's contribution to RPA's pilot project to improve early identification and treatment of chronic kidney disease by serving as one of the Advanced CKD Patient Management Toolkit field test sites.

In attendance to accept this prestigious award were members of the Boise Kidney and Hypertension Institute healthcare team.
